Women in Electronics Receives Google Support

Orange County, CA – July 16, 2024 – Women in Electronics (WE), a 501c3 public charity providing leadership growth and development, mentorship, community, thought-leadership events, and resources that advance results in gender parity, announced today its gratitude to global technology company Google for providing support to Women in Electronics and its mission.

By expanding opportunities for women in the electronics industry, WE is helping to foster fresh perspectives and a wider talent pool, which drives progress and growth.

“Empowering women leads to innovation and diversity, ultimately benefiting the entire industry,” said Lynn Torrel, WE Advisory Council Member and Global VP, Strategic Sourcing at Google.

“Our mission at Women in Electronics is to open opportunities for all talent to thrive and to lead with civility, ethics, and humanity, uniting stakeholders from across the entire technology ecosystem to drive systemic change. We are incredibly grateful for the support from the Google team,” said CEO, Founder, and President, Jackie Mattox.

WE offers gratitude to sponsors: Amphenol, Avnet/Newark/Farnell, Kyocera/AVX, Altium/Nexar/Octopart, DigiKey, EETech, Flex Electronics, Galco Industrial Electronics, Littelfuse, Master Electronics, Molex, Neutrik Group, Renesas, Rochester Electronics, Orbweaver, Plexus, Rutronik, Samtec, Sourceability, Supplyframe, TTI Family of Specialists, Vishay, and Waldom.

About Women in Electronics (WE United)

Women in Electronics (WE) was founded in 2017 to offer a sense of community, develop together, and unite with colleagues to advance results in gender parity in the electronics industry, industrial industry, digital/software, and related end-user markets. WE is focused on four organizational goals: empower, advocate, develop, and celebrate by providing leadership growth and development, mentorship, community, thought-leadership, events, and career resources. Women in Electronics receives support from leading industry organizations and reaches the industry community through events and local chapters throughout the US and Europe, with plans to reach a broader global community.
